Charge Determination

Date: April 27, 2023

Project: 1915-0269

INTRODUCTION

The provisions for the collection of charges under MS 103D.729 gives a Watershed District, through the amendment of its plan or during an update to the Comprehensive Watershed Management Plan (CWMP), the authority to establish one or more Water Management Districts (WMD) for the purpose of collecting revenues and paying the costs of projects initiated under sections 103B.231, 103D.601, 103D.605, 103D.611, or 103D.730. The establishment of a WMD requires the description of the methods used to determine the charges. These methods were generally described within the Buffalo-Red River Watershed Comprehensive Watershed Management Plan (BRRW CWMP, finalized on October 28, 2020). The methods for the proposed Hay Creek Water Management District (Hay Creek) are further described and the charges determined using these methods by this Memorandum. A general philosophy for funding project discussion believed to be consistent with the policies established within the BRRW CWMP is also presented.

THE PROJECT

The project for which a WMD is being considered is the Stinking Lake Detention project, located within the Hay Creek Watershed. The project was established as Project No. 16 by the BRRWD Board of Managers on June 27, 1990, and was constructed in 1990 to provide 5,159 acre-feet of flood storage. Project features eligible for funding as part of the proposed WMD include the operation and maintenance of the Stinking Lake outlet structure, Hay Creek and its structures, as it relates to the function of the Stinking Lake Project, between the Stinking Lake outlet structure and the Buffalo River (Figure 1), and other BRRWD Board ordered projects that benefit the Hay Creek Watershed.

OPINION OF PROBABLE CONSTRUCTION COST

The Opinion of Probable Cost for the project (referred to as the “project estimated cost”) within the 1989 Engineer’s Report was $686,760.

WMD BACKGROUND

The BRRWD, through their CWMP, has the authority to establish one or more Water Management Districts for the purpose of collecting revenues and paying the costs of projects initiated under sections 103D.601, 103D.605, 103D.611, or 103D.730. To use this funding method, Minnesota law (MS 103D.729) requires that the area to be included in the WMD be described, the amount to be charged identified, the methods used to determine the charges described, and the length of time the WMD is expected to remain in force specified. Hay Creek is within the Mainstem Planning Region, as described in the BRRW CWMP. The WMD may be dissolved by the procedures prescribed for the establishment of the Water Management District. Based on the BRRW CWMP, the maximum WMD revenue limit within each WMD is based on 0.10% of the taxable market value within each planning region. For the Hay Creek watershed, within the Mainstem Planning Region, this equates to a value of approximately $185,000. To help keep the local cost down on a year-by-year basis, an assessment value of $35,000 per year has been chosen. Figure 7 shows a breakdown of the proposed annual charge per acre within the Hay Creek watershed of the Mainstem Planning Region. Based on the proposed per acre charge, $35,000 could be raised annually from the Hay Creek portion of the Mainstem Planning. This value of $35,000 has been used for the purposes of computing the estimated WMD charges.

PROJECT FUNDING APPROACH

The Stinking Lake Detention project was paid for with local funds from the BRRWD along with funding partnerships through the Red River Watershed Management Board, the Minnesota Department of Natural Resources, and the US Fish and Wildlife Service.

DETERMINING THE WMD BOUNDARY

The drainage area of the project is located within the Mainstem Planning Region of the BRRWD. The total calculated area within the project boundary is approximately 25,688 acres. Only the portion of the Mainstem Planning Region that drains to Hay Creek has been included in the proposed WMD. When the planning region hydrologic boundary crossed a parcel, that portion of the parcel within the hydrologic boundary was included in the WMD. Through discussions with BWSR, the BRRWD will limit the WMD to the portion of the Mainstem Planning Region that contributes runoff to Hay Creek. In total, this includes about 23,379 acres. Portions of the Mainstem Planning Region that do not contribute runoff to Hay Creek will not be assessed charges, and in turn will not be allowed to apply for project funds through the WMD. The lands shown in Figure 2 are those within the Mainstem Planning Region and the proposed Hay Creek WMD, except for areas that may be removed for non-contributing reasons.

SUMMARY OF CHARGE DETERMINATION

The BRRW CWMP laid out four general methods to determine charges for the Water Management District. The methods proposed to establish the charges will be based upon the proportion of the runoff volume contributed by a parcel or may be based on the drainage area of the parcel, within the Water Management District. What is described below is a refinement to the methodology listed in the BRRW CWMP due to limitations of the available geospatial data.

MODIFIED RUNOFF METHOD

This method establishes rates based on a modified runoff method. The runoff method uses SSURGO Soils and Land use data (2019 National Agricultural Statistics and Service) to calculate a curve number related to the percentage of runoff estimated from a rainfall event (10-year, 24-hour). Preliminary review of the 2019 National Agricultural Statistics and Service (NASS) showed several discrepancies with actual landuse data, based on more recent aerial photography and the use of other available tools. Existing riparian corridors were identified and replaced within the NASS data. Lands enrolled in conservation related programs were identified and assigned the landuse of grassland. The National Wetland Inventory (NWI) and the National Hydrography Dataset (NHD) also proved to be more accurate than the NASS data, so this information was used to determine wetlands and waters within the project boundary. Parcels that are inside of corporate limits were considered city lots and assigned the landuse of medium density development. Farmstead parcels that were not already split into separate areas were adjusted from agricultural landuse to low density development. Existing road right-of-way data for Clay County and Becker County was used. Most of the existing right-of-way was present within the parcels; however, parcels that did not include road right-of-way were assumed to be 33 feet on either side of the road centerline. Road right-of-way areas are exempt from this analysis. The existing landuse was identified as nine categories: 1. Open Water, 2. Developed, Open Space, 3. Developed, Low Density (Farmsteads), 4. Developed, Medium Density (City Lots), 5. Mixed Forest, 6. Grassland/Herbaceous, 7. Cultivated Crops, 8. Woody Wetlands, and 9. Emergent Herbaceous Wetlands. Figure 2 shows the landuse types and areas identified within the project boundary, as described above. Table 1 shows the curve number based on soil type and landuse. The SSURGO Hydrologic Soil Group data within the project area was used to determine the SCS Curve Number (CN) for runoff. For soils that had a dual classification rating (A/D, B/D, and C/D), a weighted average between the drained and undrained condition was used. Wetlands and waters were exempt from this average and the same value was used under all conditions. Figure 3 summarizes the SSURGO soils map and Figure 4 summarizes the CN values throughout the project area.

Table 1: Pervious CN by Hydrologic Soil Group

RUNOFF CHANGES

The runoff values for the project area were calibrated by comparing the runoff results from a 10-year, 24-hour rainfall event (3.70 inches) for pre-settlement and existing conditions. Pre-settlement conditions used a landuse of grassland/herbaceous across the entire area outside of existing wetlands and open water, while existing conditions used the landuse as exists today. An average CN for each landuse was calculated in each area to normalize the data and reduce large fluctuations in assessment values between individual parcels within a given area. The difference in runoff values were summed and each parcel was assigned its relative percent of the total project area, by landuse. Figure 5 shows the change in runoff conditions throughout the project area.

CONTRIBUTION AREA

Not all the land within the project area contributes runoff and sediment during a 10-year, 24-hour rainfall event. In fact, there are some areas that do not contribute during a 100-year, 24-hour event. Figure 6 summarizes the non-contributing areas within the project boundary, based on specific rainfall events. To account for areas with reduced contribution, or no contribution at all, a multiplier was used based on the event frequency. The total change in runoff and sediment load was adjusted based on this multiplier, as shown in Table 2.

Table 2: Runoff and Sediment Adjustment Multiplier

Rainfall Event (24 Hour Storm)	Multiplier	Area (Acres)
Less than 10 Year	1	16,273
10-25 Year	0.4	799
25-50 Year	0.2	5,981
50-100 Year	0.1	326
100 Year or Greater	0	2,309
Total Area – Contributing (Less than 100-year, 24-hour event)		23,379
Total Area – Non-Contributing (Greater than 100-year, 24-hour event)		2,309
Total Area (Combined)		25,688

WMD ANNUAL CHARGE PER ACRE

To calculate the annual charge per acre, the annual project Water Management District charge estimate of $35,000 was multiplied by the percent runoff change and total sediment change for each parcel, then adjusted to the frequency of the multiplier shown in Table 2. All agricultural land was assigned the same cost per acre assessment. Parcels located within City limits were charged a minimum of $1 per year, and parcels with a charge less than $1 per year were rounded up to $1 per year, to simplify billing. All parcel charges above $1 per year were assigned their calculated value. Following the methods previously described, the exact charge estimate equals $35,000. Figure 7 summarizes the charges per acre/per year on a parcel basis based on the annual WMD charge estimate of $35,000. The total annual charges per parcel are summarized as found in the tables in Exhibit A.

THE WATER MANAGEMENT DISTRICT DURATION

The BRRWD anticipates the Water Management District will provide funding to assist with the operation and maintenance of the Stinking Lake Detention project in the Hay Creek Watershed. The Water Management District will remain in existence in perpetuity (or a shorter duration, should the Board decide to limit the duration).

Annual assessment of charges could vary from no charges up to the maximum WMD revenue limit of the planning region.

The primary use of the funds collected from charges within the Water Management District will support the operation and maintenance of Stinking Lake within the Mainstem Planning Region Water Management District. This Water Management District will be specific to the operation and maintenance of the Stinking Lake Detention project and other BRRWD Board ordered projects that benefit the Hay Creek Watershed.

THE WATER MANAGEMENT DISTRICT PROCESS

Draft guidance as to the process of creating a WMD has been provided by BWSR. The process involves eight steps. The first two steps are addressed through the revision of the Watershed Management Plan. The remaining steps 3 through 8 must be completed prior to any collection of charges in any WMD. This memo provides the guidance for Steps 3 and 4. The remaining steps 5 through 8 still need to be completed.

Step 1. Amend Watershed District Plan to create a water management district.

Amendment must include:

- Description of area to be in the water management district
- The amount to be raised by charges (total amount is necessary if fixed time for water management district to be in force, otherwise annual maximum (cap) amount)
- The method that will be used to determine the charges
- The length of time the water management district will be in force (perpetuity is acceptable)

Step 2. Approval of Plan amendment under M.S. § 103D.411 or as part of a revised Plan under M.S. § 103D.405.

- Revised Plan, or petition and amendment, sent to BWSR
- BWSR gives legal notice, and holds hearing if requested
- BWSR orders approval or prescribes plan or amendment
- BWSR notifies WD managers, counties, cities, SWCDs

Step 3. Watershed District refines methodology for computing charges.

Step 4. Watershed District determines and sets charges for all properties within the water management district after identifying scope of project and deciding method(s) of funding project.

Step 5. Watershed District develops collection mechanism.

- Request County or Counties to collect, or Billing and collection by Watershed District

Step 6. Watershed District holds hearing, orders the establishment (implementation) of a project in the water management district, and initiates stormwater utility charges.

- Projects implemented must be ordered by the managers
- Order for project must specify funding method(s)
- Watershed District must notify counties, cities, and towns within the affected area at least 10 days prior to a hearing or decision on projects implemented under this section of statute

Step 7. Watershed District establishes a separate fund for proceeds collected from the stormwater utility charges.

Step 8. Resolution of Disputes. Local governments may request BWSR to resolve disputes pursuant to M.S. § 103B.101, Subd. 10.

NEXT STEPS AND RECOMMENDATIONS

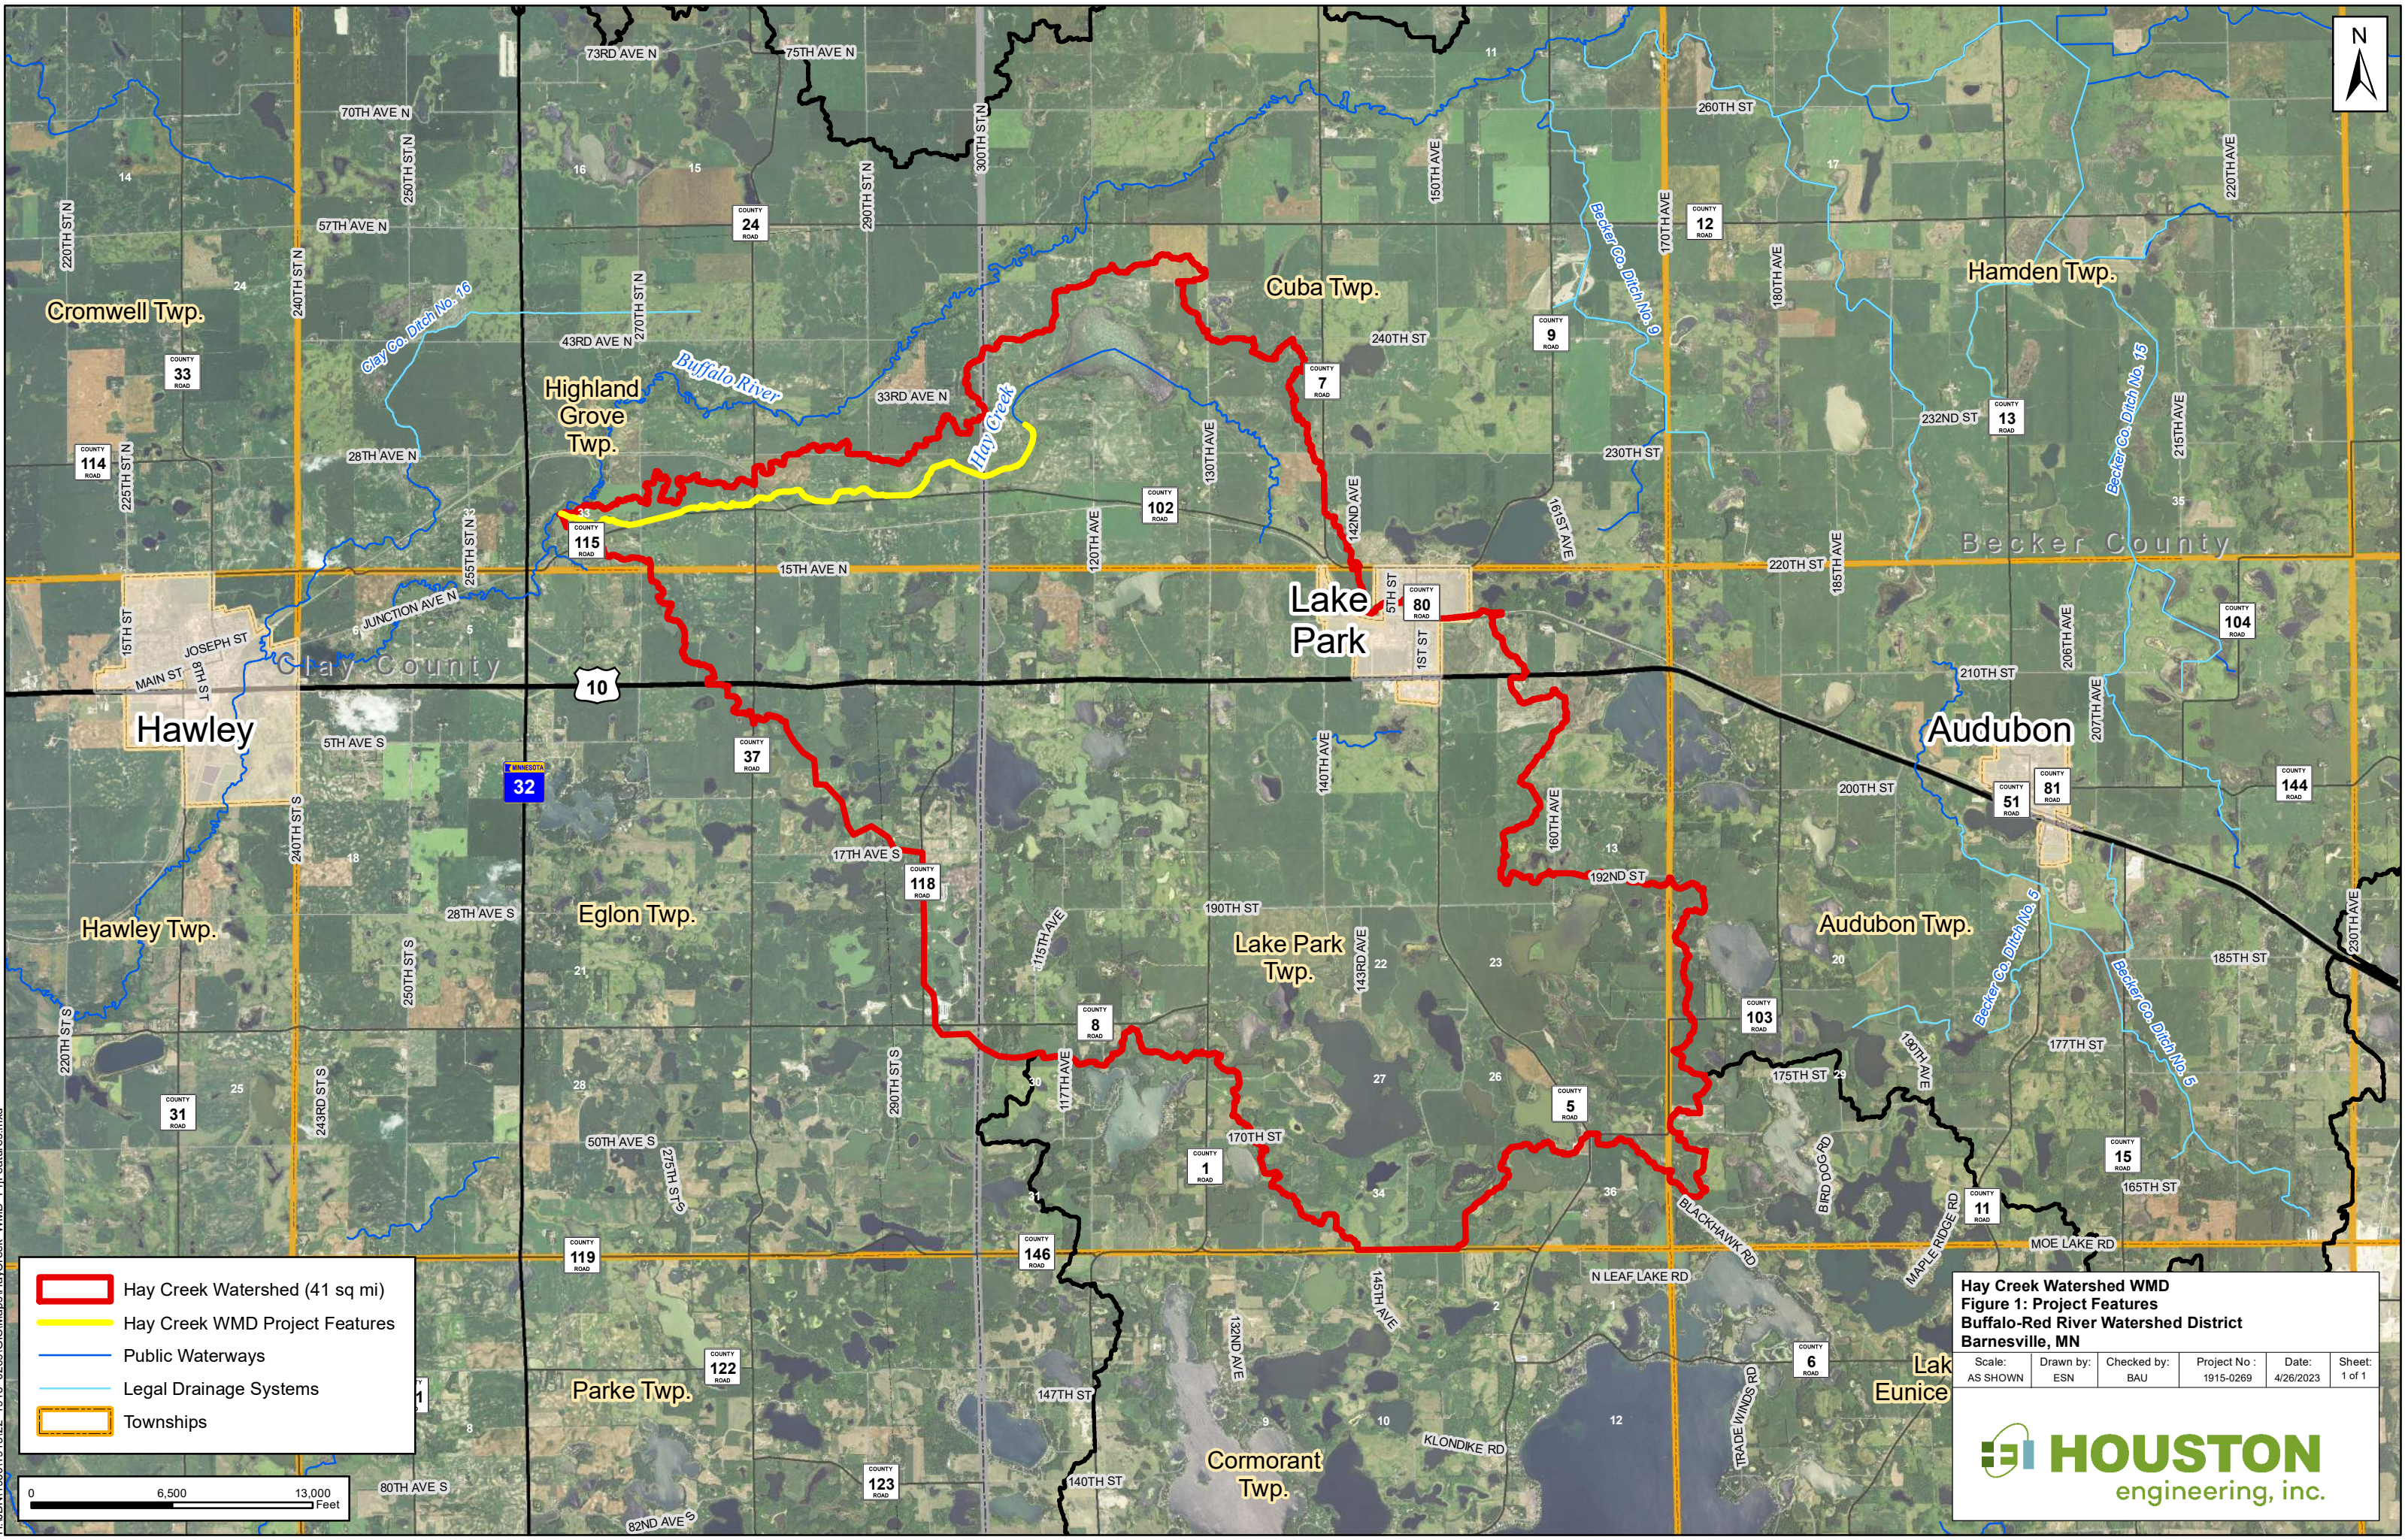

The recommended charges for the Mainstem Planning Region would be the modified combined method as described above based on the simplicity of the methodology, the limitations of the coarse nature of the existing land use raster data, and charge variance for landowners based on contributing area during specific rainfall events.

We recommend the Board adopt the proposed charge as described in this memo.

The water management district needs to be established as outlined above and as established by BWSR.
